

A beautiful woman with a fish tail could only mean one thing. Sara jumped up and ran back towards the house. She was dripping wet. No one was going to believe what had just happened to her. Sara couldn't believe her luck in being rescued by a mermaid. This was definitely an extraordinary day that she would never forget!

The woman swam away quickly. Soon she was quite far out into the deep water. Just before she was out of sight, the woman dove under the water. Sara rubbed her eyes. She felt she must have been seeing things. Where the woman's legs should have been, there was a shiny, slippery, sparkling tail! It splashed the water's surface as the woman disappeared from sight.

The woman swam strongly towards the shallow water of the shore. When they arrived, the woman placed Sara firmly onto the sand. She paused for a second, nodded again at Sara, then turned and dove under the water. Sara didn't even have time to say "thank you" to the woman.